

Your team needs time for a pause.

View this email in your browser

Welcome to the third quarter of 2015. As summer gets going it feels like a good time to pause and reflect on how to tune up your team for the last half of this year. We can help.

Meanwhile, we've had some successes we'd like to share with you. The fine folks out at the University of British Columbia are using some of our work in a Masters course and we're thrilled. The course is in strategic planning they are using one of our articles published in Information Outlook, a publication for managers and professional libraries.

Speaking of publications, our latest thinking about creating and maintaining productive teams was profiled in The Bottom Line earlier this month. It just goes to show that our Intentional Teams Framework has legs beyond just the mining industry. It's applicable to any team doing critical work. Yay!

Now, let's get on with sharing some tips for your team this month.

Yours in team performance,

Bill & Esther.

Tools for Change

How effective is your team?

The ideal worksheet for this time of year. Download it, take stock, then call Bill or Esther for a no-obligation meeting to discover how we can help your team where you need it most.

How we help

Developing Intentional Leaders

Do any of your team members need to grow but a particular challenge may be holding them back? Consider this service which is a 6 month program. Click here to download a PDF to forward on to colleagues.

5 Tips to Improve Team Mindset

In the fast-paced world of today, pausing for more than a sip of coffee is not generally part of our work day. However, it just may be the key to improving your team's mindset. Read on for five reasons how to pause, and why.

Click here to read article >>

2 Secrets to Team Success

In this article, I focus on habits and choices, hardly secrets. Yet these two are the root of great success. Take 3 mins and have a read, perhaps these two not-so-secret ideas can help your team win during this last half of 2015.

Click to read article >>
